Maryland Public Service Commission Names New Communications Director

Baltimore—The Maryland Public Service Commission (PSC) is pleased to announce the appointment of Regina L. Davis as its new communications director, effective June 8, 2011.

Before joining the PSC, she was the deputy director of communications at the Council of State Governments Justice Center. She also has served as the communications director for the University of Maryland Dental School and previously worked in the Office of External Affairs at the University of Maryland Baltimore as the senior editor. Her experience also includes technical and scientific editing. As an adjunct faculty member, she has taught journalism, communications, and public relations courses at Loyola College in Maryland and Towson University.

“We are all very happy to have Regina on board,” says Douglas R. M. Nazarian, Chairman of the Commission. “She has the background, enthusiasm, and intellectual vigor we need to reach out to and educate the public effectively.”

She received her B.S. in Mass Communication from Towson University and her M.A. in Mass Communication from the University of Florida.

Members of the media can contact her directly at rdavis@psc.state.md.us or 410-767-8054.
